Our Passion is a good spirit

Martin Vambera, founder

"Ever since my youth, I have played with the idea of creating a company that would be built on family values, exceptional products, honest work and its appreciation. After many years of leading the IT department for a large international corporation, I discovered exceptional rums from the producer Oliver & Oliver. Therefore, I left my career in the corporate world to pursue my dream: to establish RUMAKO."

Oliver & Oliver

Description

The Oliver & Oliver Family Company is dedicated to the craftmanship of the highest quality rums "grandes rones". Company history dates back to the mid-nineteenth century. In that years, Juanillo Oliver came to Cuba. He began to cultivate tobacco, sugar cane, and started rum production. Over the years achieved great successes. Today, Pedro Ramon Lopez Oliver and his family produce rums "grandes rones" in the Dominican Republic, where the family fled because of Fidel Castro's revolutionaries. In more than eight thousand American and French oak barrels is stored a treasure of more than one thousand liters of rum, whose uniqueness stands on the tradition, the special method of production and the use of highest quality raw materials.

Family producer from The Dominican Republic Oliver & Oliver is dedicated to craft the highest quality rums they are named as "Great Rums" - Grandes Rones. Clear evidence of exceptionality of these rums proves a number of major awards, receiving worldwide.

Why are the rums Oliver & Oliver so unique?

- > Smaller production compared to the big manufacturers contributes the better control, preservation of the quality of production and the possibility of a wide rum assortment. As the O&O employees say themselves, "We are giving our hearts and souls to our rums."
- ➤ The use of two different types of alcohols. Neutral (light) with 96% of alcohol and aquardiente (heavy), after being matured called "malta" with 75% of alcohol, which has a great potential for long-term aging and significantly influences the organoleptic attributes of the resulting rums.
- ➤ The selection of alcohols directly from Oliver's Cuban rum masters "maestros roneros".
- ➤ The use of smaller 220 liters charred American and French oak barrels to balance the strength and subtlety of rum that have an ideal ratio between the amount of the rum and the surface of the wood. American oak gives the products resulting sharpness and strength, French oak gives the final product its softness and therefore rum has a pleasantly sweet impression.
- ➤ Natural conditions constant temperature above 30° C in O&O cellars makes ideal potential for faster and more significant aging reactions.
- ➤ A high ratio of older rum basis in all categories of O&O rums is ensured by never pumping more than 50% of the rum base from the barrel.
- "Madre de ron" an extra old rum base that forms every single O&O rum.
- Ripening and "rest" at the end of the production process, the rums are stored in stainless steel tanks for several weeks before bottling for a perfect result.
- Tradition and the use of the highest quality raw materials.
- ➤ Following the strict Cuban norms for O&O rum production.
- ➤ Valuable Awards from all over the world across all rum categories four rum from the O&O rums portfolio were placed among the top 10 rums in the world.

Panamá-Pacific Rum

Description

Exposición Panamá-Pacific Rum is a Spanish-style molasses-derived rum made at the San Carlos distillery in the Provincia de Herrera region of Panamá. Panamá's year round hot and humid climate of an average 35° C is the perfect environment for our rum to mature under the careful supervision of our always-attentive quality control team. We bottle no rum until it has entirely achieved the stated age. Panamá-Pacific's age statement reflects the youngest rum in the blend, not just a portion of it.

Our rum production begins in Panama's interior, in Provincia de Herrera, where we harvest our sugarcane during its optimal maturity between the months of January and May. Once harvested, we extract the sugarcane's succulent juices within a short twelve-hour window in order to retain their bright, fresh sweetness. The cane juice is then evaporated into a rich, delicious molasses, to which we add yeasts extracted from pineapples to ferment the sugars into a low-alcohol mash which will then be strengthened through distillation.

In keeping with early rum production traditions originally applied in Cuba, we then distill the cane mash in our historic Coffey copper column still to a slightly lower proof than is normally achieved in other distilleries, creating our rum's signature richer, fuller flavor and character. After distillation, we rest the fresh cane spirit in Kentucky bourbon casks initially for three years. Samples of that young rum are then carefully reviewed to determine integrity for a potentially-longer aging regimen. Those rum selections deemed worthy of an extended maturation are then transferred into exhausted Tennessee and Canadian whiskey barrels, whose oak flavors are more depleted, for a gentle imparting of vanilla, caramel and butterscotch notes without over-dominating our balanced essential flavors of cane and molasses. During this extended aging, the rum rests in its casks until optimal flavors are attained.

Panamá Pacific Rum 3 Years

Description

The 3 Year expression begins with freshly-distilled sugarcane being laid into used American Oak bourbon whiskey casks for 3 years. The rum is then is filtered using a natural process that removes color without removing flavor.

Our blanco 3 Year rum displays subtle tropical aromas of gardenia and jasmine balanced with a vegetal tang of fresh green sugarcane. Flavors of banana pudding with vanilla wafer cookies, jungle-fresh papaya, and shortbread are balanced by a gentle acidity. The dry finish carries notes of white pepper, cinnamon, and pistachio.

The Real McCoy

Description

Fast forward to the twenty first century, Founder and CEO, Bailey Pryor, came up with the idea to make The Real McCoy® Rum while producing a documentary film about Bill McCoy for Public Television in the United States. Bailey's documentary film won 5 Emmy® Awards. During his research for the film, Bailey traveled to the Caribbean island of Barbados, where he met Richard Seale, the 4th generation Master Distiller at his family-owned Foursquare Distillery...

The Real McCoy® Rum is based on the story of Bill McCoy, the pioneer rum runner of the Prohibition era. In January of 1920, McCoy was the first who filled a boat with alcohol in the Caribbean, sailed it up to New York City, and legally acted as a floating liquor store three miles off the shore. McCoy was careful to always stay outside the three mile limit, which was international waters in the early days of Prohibition in America.

McCoy made a name for himself because he never adulterated the alcohol. While copy-cat rum runners would dilute their alcohol with wicked chemicals like turpentine, wood alcohol and prune juice, McCoy never did. The sullied products were nicknamed "Booze," "Hooch" and "Rot Gut," while McCoy's quality spirits became known as "The Real McCoy."

The multi-award winning collection of rum is produced in honor of McCoy using his Prohibition Tradition®. The rum is completely unadulterated - there are no added sugars, flavours or perfumes - and it is used only the finest blackstrap molasses and pure spring water. The rums are small batch single-distilled in a rare artisan combination of column and pot stills, then authentically aged in heavy charred American Oak bourbon barrels for a full 3, 5 or 12 years.

The Real McCoy aged 3 years

Description

A rum that aged in authentic bourbon barrels. It has a clear colour with light oak tones, obtained by subsequent filtration through charcoal. In the scent there are noticeable traces of fresh and candied fruit with hints of butter caramel, nutmeg and fine oak finishing. The taste is very distinctive with a spicy finish. Overall, this is an excellent white rum suitable for a drink on the rocks or mixed in traditional cocktails. McCov Rum is based on the story of Bill McCoy, the pioneer rum runner of the Prohibition era in the United States.

La Progresiva & Black Tears

Description

Cuban tradition, selected oak wood casks, long maturation and especially the art of rum masters from Bodega Vigia, who have been constantly improving their production methods to their own perfection for more than 60 years. La Progresiva and Black Tears offer precision in every single detail, from the unmistakable aroma, unique drier taste to elegant bottles, which complete the overall character of this Cuban treasure.

Women master blenders craft La Progresiva from spirits grown in the red soil of Ciego de Ávila, central Cuba, where rum has been produced since 1577, at Bodega Vigia outside Havana. Vigia rums were originally reserved as gifts for visiting heads of state and the seal remains a mark of Cuban quality.

The word Vigia means "lookout" or "viewpoint", and it was in Finca Vigía, next door to Bodega Vigia, that Ernest Hemingway wrote some of his greatest works, overlooking Havana and the sparkling Florida Straits. Today, the Vigia seal adorns every bottle of La Progresiva, honed by Bodega Vigia's women master blenders into the dry, classically Cuban style that Hemingway loved so much.

Toucan

Description

The making of the Toucan Rum is a centuries-old expertise, preserved by the rum distillery of Saint Maurice. It is the only distillery located in French Guiana, and it is also the closest one to the equator. The different kinds of rums made there have received numerous prizes, among which we can mention the 2012 «prix d'excellence du concours général agricole» of Paris. This distinction is rewarding the maintenance of a very high-quality rum for many years. It is a well-deserved reward for Mr. Ernest PREVOT's work and his respect of the rum-making tradition – Mr. Prevot is the distillery's owner.

The exploitation is situated only a few yards from the great Maroni river, a place with a particularly favourable soil as it is sunbathed, light, sandy and deep, and draining at least 2.5 meters of rain water each year.

The equatorial climate of French Guiana is ideal for the growing of sugar canes. It is warm, humid and sunny. The cane selected for the production of the Toucan Rum is saccharum Officinarum, a «noble» sugar cane variety, characterised by its sweetness, its high rate of fibres and its vigorous and resistant stems.

The cutting of the cane is still done by hand. A technique which ensures that the stems are selected at the end of the vegetal cycle, when the richness of the sugar cane is at its highest.

It is the pure juice of this sugar cane, called the «vesou» that gives the rum its refined and delicate bouquet and which guarantees its quality. Then comes the preparation of the must, the «composition», the fermentation, the distillation and the ripening.

Tequila Casa Noble

Description

Thanks to its first-class quality, Casa Noble is one of the top producers of ultra-premium tequila in the world. Casa Noble owes this fact especially to its tequila master "Maestro Tequilero", whose name is Jose "Pepe" Hermosillo. This is the seventh generation of Casa Noble tequila masters as a 200-year tradition. Pepe is also a direct co-owner of Casa Noble.

Only 100 % Weber's blue agave is used to make Casa Noble tequila. It is grown in volcanic soil in the alpine fields of the western Jalisco and harvested at full grown at the age of 10 to 12 years, as this is the only way to be ready for the perfect aroma and taste of high quality tequila. Tequila Casa Noble stands out mainly due to its incredibly delicate taste, which is created thanks to the triple distillation. (In general, double distillation is common for tequila). The aged tequilas are matured in brand new cask of French oak from the famous cask producer Taransaud. These casks are selected directly by the master "Pepe". It is these casks that give to the resulting tequila an unmistakably sweet fruity and vanilla aroma. Tequila Casa Noble Reposado is matured for 364 days and Añejo for a full 24 months, both for significantly longer than the legal norm.

More than 200 years of tradition, the masterpiece of Jose Hermosilla - the seventh generation of tequila masters, unique triple distillation and certified 100 % Organic. All these standpoints are the building blocks of Casa Noble tequila, which creates a unique work full of beautiful scents and incredibly delicious, smooth and long-lasting taste.

Hyde Irish Whiskey

Description

The Rugged County Cork Coast in Ireland provides the perfect maturing conditions for our award winning Irish whiskey. Originally distilled in a traditional copper pot still, HYDE Irish Whiskey is double matured; firstly, in flame charred, first fill, oak bourbon casks, and then 'finished' in either a vintage Oloroso Sherry cask or Burgundy red wine cask.

HYDE is handcrafted in very small limited edition batches and non-chill filtered for a more original character. HYDE is a presidential quality whiskey, celebrating the inaugural appointment of Ireland's very first president Douglas Hyde.

The Hyde family have a long tradition of being involved in the Irish drinks business. From 1640 until 1962 the family ran a tavern located just outside the picturesque town of Bandon in West Cork. The Hydes sold traditional Irish Whiskey and draught stout straight from wooden casks, tapped by hand with a mallet and brass tap.

The drink business runs through twelve generations of the Hyde family tree. At one stage in 1916, their grandfather, granduncle and grandaunt were all publicans in Bandon. Today, Alan and Conor Hyde are the first generation not to own a tavern, but they continue the family tradition by producing some of Ireland's finest whiskey.

High West Whiskey

Description

High West Distillery was founded in 2006 by David Perkins and his wife, Jane. David, a former biochemist, was inspired to open his own distillery after seeing the parallels between the fermentation and distilling process and his own work in biochemistry during a trip to the Maker's Mark Distillery in Loretto, Kentucky. In 2004, David and his family relocated to Park City, Utah to begin their new venture, where they began distilling in 2007. They chose Park City because of David's love of the Old West and Utah's little-known whiskey history.

High West began with humble roots, opening a small, 250-gallon still and Saloon in an historic livery stable and garage. What was once a small operation in downtown Park City has grown to be an internationally-recognized brand with four unique locations. In 2015, High West opened their distillery in Wanship, Utah, which acts as a space for educational whiskey tasting, pairings and tours, and houses a 1600-gallon copper pot still.

High West's products have received numerous accolades and awards. In 2016, Whisky Advocate, America's leading whiskey magazine, named High West its "Distiller of the Year".

High West Whiskey American Prairie Bourbon

Description

The bourbon is named after the American Prairie Reserve, an organization that is working hard to assemble the largest wildlife reserve in the lower 48 states, larger than, for example, Yellowstone or Yosemite. 10 % of sales of this bourbon goes to the help of this organization. The High West American Prairie is a carefully assembled blend of straight bourbons that are matured for 2 to 13 years in the new White oak barrels. The color of bourbon is reminiscent of noble straw wine. The Aroma is reflected by the scent of the first-class bourbon. The tones of sweet vanilla and soft caramel are in a harmony with spicy aroma and caramelized apples at the end. The taste is rich, earthy and complex.

Grappa and spirits Andrea da Ponte

Description

Elegant, refined, precious. The Andrea Da Ponte distillates stand out thanks to all those special features which make gems exclusive and therefore different from each other. These are unrivalled jewels, splendid in their patent uniqueness, exciting in their disarming purity. A sip of this captivating melody of the senses transforms every moment into intense pleasure for the palate, wrapped in overwhelming notes which reflect a classy world, a coterie of true connoisseurs and a taste for perfection, that perfection which comes from a privileged land with a natural vocation for the cultivation of vines.

In 1896 Matteo Da Ponte published "Il manuale della distillazione", the book which contains illustrations, for the first time, of the alembics he patented and the first columns for concentration of the alcoholic vapours, built to age and soften a genuine spirit yet with a rough and unsophisticated taste. The "Metodo Da Ponte" has the advantage of collecting and preserving in the distillate the most intense varietal aromas of the grape, the more delicate and volatile ones, to reintroduce them, very fresh, in every drop to be tasted. It is almost a revelation, an example which the heads of the family, in the years to come, follow scrupulously, won over by the art of distillation.

TRADITION: The art of distilling is based on principles laid out in Matteo Da Ponte's 1896 Manual, the philosophical basis on which the entire company is founded.

IL TERROIR: The bond with its local growing area is remarkably strong. The distillery processes only quality-selected pomace, fresh and just-drawn off, sourced exclusively from the hills of Conegliano and Valdobbiadene, the Prosecco zone protected by a Denominazione di Origine Controllata e Garantita designation.

PRESERVATION: One of the fundamental values of the Andrea Da Ponte philosophy is full respect for the varietal aromatic qualities of the grapes, which nature creates, a respect that entails distilling during the grape harvest period.

DISTILLATION: For generations, the Distilleria Andrea Da Ponte has been utilising an alembic system patented by Andrea Da Ponte, which has been reworked and modernised by the use of vacuum technology and by state-of-the-art aromatisation processes.

ANALYTICAL MONITORING: Heads and tails are eliminated through sensory monitoring by master distillers. In order to ensure and maintain a consistently high quality standard and low level of impurities, sophisticated instruments perform continuous and painstaking analyses of the aromatic compounds in the distillates.

MATURATION: The selection of lots of grappa that are suitable for natural ageing in French Limousin oak barrels is performed with great rigour. The lengthy ageing process, from 4 to 12 years and more, yields a smooth-textured spirit with a fine overall harmony of its components and a bouquet of extremely clean-edged aromatics, privileging qualities such as smoothness and finesse.

Champagne Henriet Bazin

Description

HISTORY

In 1890, when the vast majority of the Champagne grapes were bought by the big houses, three winegrowing friends in Verzenay decided to retain part of their harvest to start their own winemaking. One of them was Gaston Henriet, my great-grandfather the Champagne Henriet was born!

TERROIR

The expression of the grapes varies a lot, and it can be based on different factors: the exposure, the altitude, the gradient of the hillside, the type of soil and the work on the vine. The chalky subsoil is covered by surficial formations which are guiding our choices of planting, but also influences the sensory expression of the grape varieties.

Champagne counts for 33 000 hectares of vineyards spread over 5 departments and is divided into 4 large wine regions. It is made up of 319 villages, called Crus. Among them, 17 are classified Grands-Crus and 44 Premiers Crus.

We manage and have full ownership of 7.75 hectares of vineyards, 6 hectares of which (35 plots) are spread over the northeast flank of the Montagne de Reims and 1.75 hectares in the Ardre Valley.

Our operation is historically located on the Montagne de Reims and our vines are spread between Verzenay and Verzy, classified Grand Cru and Villers-Marmery, classified Premier Cru. The appearance of this area consists of a series of slopes and winding and asymmetrical valleys where vineyards and villages cohabit. Verzenay and Verzy are backed by the forest and dominate the vineyards, while Villers-Marmery is further down and surrounded by vines.

Champagne Henriet Bazin

Description

CHAMPAGNE

The care we bring to the vineyard and the passion for our terroir continue in our cellars.

Our philosophy is to allow the wine to express itself, so that it can tell the whole story of the soil from which it comes from. To achieve this, we place great emphasis on every step and ensure that the wine is well cared for. Each plot is harvested by hand once we decide that the grapes have reached maturity. During the pressing the juice flows gently, without being pumped, into to the tanks. Gravity helps to transport it there. But it also plays an important role in the clarification process, as our long settling period of more than 24 hours makes any additional filtration unnecessary. This peace of mind allows the aromas to be expressed to their full potential.

Next, our wine rests on its own sediments for almost 9 months within one of our 27 total enamel vats. This period of calm lets the wine reveal all the complexity, balance and elegance of the plots from which it is derived.

Then, we are deciding how to blend villages, vineyards, plots, old vines or the youngest vines, Pinot Noir, Chardonnay or Meunier and the various vintages to allow their personality to express themselves fully in beautiful wines that we do not dose too much, so that they reveal the best of our history.

Honig Vineyard & Winery

Description

Honig Vineyard & Winery is a small, family-owned winery located in Rutherford, in the heart of the Napa Valley, one of the world's leading wineries. Since 1980 it has been producing premium wines. Honig wines focuse exclusively on handmade Sauvignon Blanc and Cabernet Sauvignon wines, which achieve an exceptional quality at this location. Winery is certified under many Napa programs, especially for environmental protection. In addition, it has developed and implemented a proprietary farm plan with measured results covering all aspects of its ownership, viticulture and non-agricultural land.

Grapes for the production of Honig wines come from the central Rutheford and from the nearby vineyards. This composition gives to the resulting wines the right complexity. The Sauvignon Blanc is typical of its bodyiness and noticeable reverberation. Cabernet Sauvignon is aged in selected French and American oak barrels for more than two years. The result is a unique taste and a very long lasting finish.

Honig Sauvignon Blanc

Description

The Sauvignon blanc grapes are treated using two different methods. To enhance the delicate tropical fruit flavors, a portion of the fruit goes directly into the press as whole clusters. The remaining fruit is destemmed and left in contact with the skins for several hours before pressing, amplifying the grapefruit/citrus components. All of the juice is fermented at cool temperatures in stainless steel tanks using a variety of yeast strains selected to bring out the aroma and flavor profiles of Sauvignon Blanc.

Tasting notes

Bright, crisp and fresh. The flavors and aromas are reminiscent of peaches, ripe pear, lime and grapefruit, accented by floral and tropical fruit notes. Medium-bodied, with a lengthy finish.

Andresen Porto

Description

Jann Hinrich Andresen is behind the birth of this first - class Port wine brand. Despite coming from a very poor family, he was able to develop into one of the richest entrepreneurs in Portugal. Today, more than 170 years after its founding, the company remains proudly independent and is one of the last few 100 % family and run Portuguese port wine houses.

The pioneering spirit of Jan Hinrich can still be seen today, as the company is constantly creating new markets and supplying these fine and rare wines from Porto practically all over the world. The process of maturing port wine can take several decades. In addition, it also offers a number of different variants according to the type of maturation or the wine itself. Most of the wines is used for the blends from which the final ports are made. All in compliance with strict quality standards. Wines of exceptional quality are set aside and are used for the production of vintage wines so called Vintage (Ruby) or Colheita (Tawny).
